At a Meeting of the Council of the Surtees Society on the 6th day of September, 1844,

Resolved, That the Bursar's Book in the Exchequer of Durham be one of the Surtees Society's Publications for the year 1844, and that the Secretary be requested to edit the same on the usual terms.

James Raine, Secretary.

PREFACE.

THIS volume consists of an accurate transcript of the original private Account Book of Robert Benett, Bursar of the Priory of Durham for the period of four years, from Whitsuntide 1530, to Whitsuntide 1534. One gathering of paper in the first year, consisting apparently of about twenty leaves, is unfortunately wanting. The book is of a small quarto size, in a wrapper of parchment without boards, and is preserved in the office of the auditor of the Bishop of Durham.*

Other books of the same character, more or less perfect, are in the custody of the Dean and Chapter of Durham; but, as they contain more of receipt than expenditure, each book being preceded by a rental, which is the same in every year, and few of them entering into much detail with respect to purchases or payments, they are not of so interesting a nature as that which is now presented to the members of the Society. They have, however, as will be seen from the Glossary appended to these pages, afforded many explanations of terms used in the present book, and many very valuable illustrations.

* In the book is a loose letter-back, containing references to some of its contents, in the handwriting of the person to whom it is addressed,—"To his woorthy freinde Mr John Richardson, at his house in Durham, these dd." Now, as John Richardson held an office in the Exchequer, under the Bishop of Durham, in the earlier part of the seventeenth century, it is probable that the book has been preserved in its present place of custody at least since his period.

The nature of the book must next be described. The Bursar was the chief officer of the monastery, under the Prior, having under him all the other officers (obedientiarii) of the house, each of whom exhibited to him yearly, at Pentecost, an account of his receipts and expenses in his peculiar office. To the sacrist, for instance, were appropriated certain tithes and revenues to defray the expenses incidental to the performance of divine service in the church, the purchase of robes, and the repairs of the fabric. Every other department had its respective head, but all accounted to the Bursar;* and, when their various yearly account rolls had been laid before him, and had been duly examined and audited, one large roll was yearly compiled, called the

* "The Bowcer's office was to receave all the rentes that was perteyning to the house, and all other officers of the house mayde there accoumptes to him, and he discharged all the servants' wages, and paid all the expences and sommes of money as was laid furth about any work apperteining to the said Abey, or that the house was charged with all." —The Monastical Church of Durham, p. 83.

Bursar's Roll, embodying the whole proceedings of the monastery in a summary way, and was, with the rolls of the inferior officers upon which it was founded, duly deposited in the treasury or muniment room of the convent. The Bursar's Books here printed contain the most minute details of his own proceedings as Bursar during their respective years, and their substance was duly transferred to his great annual account roll—but their substance only. In the roll he contents himself with stating in general terms his expenditure under its respective heads; but here in his book we have daily memoranda under every department within his care, with the most minute specification of names and prices, together with numerous other entries to aid his memory and guide him in his proceedings. In addition to much voluntary and valuable information of this nature, the fly-leaves at the beginning and end of each year abound with the most curious entries, which the Bursar intended for no eye save his own; but these entries do not constitute the chief value of his book. We have here every article of food and clothing, the whole consumption in short of the great monastery of Durham for four years, most minutely detailed. Men and their wages, prices and quantities, necessaries and luxuries, are all set forth to the inquisitive reader by a

A.

Allecis Albi. Dried herrings, retaining their white colour. "1539-40. Paid to William Blythman and Ralph Bowman for the carriage of 1000 white herrings, and two loads of 'poudert' fish with four horses, at 6*d.* each, 2*s.*" —Bursar's Book.

Allecis Sori. Dried herrings of a red colour. The "poudert" fish, or fish red with salt, mentioned under the preceding word. See Sorus.

Almayne Reyvetts, 139. Defensive suits of armour for the body, composed of splints rivetted together. Kempe. They are here called Almayne or German, perhaps from the country in which they were chiefly used, or from which they were introduced into England.

Ampnus or um. A corruption of amnis, a river. Reparacio Ampni, p. 280, &c. the repairing of the mill dam at the west end of the cathedral. The dam was made of stone, and the crevices were stuffed with moss, of which large quantities were procured every year for this purpose. It was generally gathered and brought to the dam by girls.

Angell Nobles, 325. The gold coin or noble, so called from the angel represented on one of its sides.

Annes. Anniseeds.

Apprenticius. An apprentice. "Received of the Sacrist for the table (or board) of the apprentice of the Lord Prior, 26*s.* 8*d.*"—Bursar's Book for 1517.

Aqua Dulcis. Fresh water, in opposition to salt water or the sea. Pisces aquæ dulcis, fish from rivers or brooks. The Brownie is frequently called "aqua dulcis de Brun."

Aries, p. 29, &c. Apparently used for sheep in general.

Arth, p. 182. The hearth.

Ascendendo, 90, &c. This word must be taken in connection with Descendendo, its opposite, terms which are in this book applied to the wages of the priests officiating in the chantries of Bishop Hatfield, the two Nevilles, and Robert Rodes, within the cathedral. The Bursar's Book for 1508 affords an explanation of the distinction and of the meaning of each word. "Descendendo ad inferiorem" is the entry in the book for that year. It would therefore appear that when the word descendendo is used, the service at the beginning of the year, immediately after Whitsuntide, was undertaken by a monk of superior standing, who was succeeded, month after month, by his juniors in their respective order; and that the term ascendendo implies the converse of this arrangement, the junior monk beginning and giving place to his immediate senior, who passed the duty on to the man above him, and so on, till the end of the year.

Asseres, 85. Spars of wood for the roof of a house, or perhaps occasionally laths. As they were obtained from the log of timber, not by sawing (sarracio), but by tearing or splitting (laceratio), it is clear that boards cannot be meant when this word is used.

Avenarius, 328. The keeper of the oats.

Auca, 233. Notwithstanding the modern usage of the word, as exclusively applicable to the puffin, it is clear that auca is here used for a goose.

B.

Bagman. An officer of the Convent, but his peculiar duties are not apparent.

Bakgeyr, 139. Armour for the back in opposition to Forgeyr, or armour for the front.

Bandsmen. Binders of the sheaves after the reapers in the harvest field. See Yane.

Baptizacio, 142. We may here give the expenses at another christening. "1539-40. In the expenses of the Lord Prior and his attendants at Brauncepeath in Advent, at the baptizing of the daughter of the Earl of Westmerlande, 2*s*. 4*d*. In regards (presents) given at the baptizing of the daughter of the Earl of Westmerlande at Brauncepeath, 10, Dec. 20*s*."—Bursar's Book.

Barked, 29. Tanned, by means of bark.

Basers, Le, 95, &c. No one of the Bursar's books explains this word. The Valectus Promptuarii, in connection with whom it occurs, is in the book for 1517, called the Butler. The basers were perhaps the lower tables. "1517. To Adomar Dand, 'butler,' 20*s*. Item, 6*s*. 8*d*. for 'baser.' Whereof paid in 'Segisterio,' 4*d*." &c. See Segisterium.

Bednell, Beydnell, codlynge. Codlings or codfish of a smaller size from Beadnell in Northumberland.

Bierman, 329. The servant in charge of the cow byers.

Blandcorn, 262. This word occurs under the head of thrashing and winnowing of tithe corn at Southwick. Wheat, barley, oats, pease, and beans are all mentioned by name. Blandcorn is no doubt maslin (mixtilio) from Sax. blendan, to mix.

Boditraces, 19, &c. Horse-trappings.

Bolcorn, 5, &c. Qu. corn for bulls. But perhaps this is a term for some old service payable to the lord by his tenant.

Bordcloth. A table cloth. "Two 'bordcloth, elbroyde,' (of the breadth of an ell) for the Prior's table, containing 14 ells. One tabylcloth 8 ells in length, and 1¼ in breadth." Bursar's Book for 1539-40. In the same book bord clothes are called over clothes.

Bordeynde, 157. The end of the board or table.

Bordnayle, Burdnayle, 13, 72. Board nails.

Botella, 293. A bottle for ale, wine, &c.

Botti, 55. Boots.

Boultclothes, 11, 133. Boulting cloths, cloths used in sifting meal.

Boyssis, 19. Bosses, ornaments in wood or metal, here apparently decorations for bridles.

Brandreth, 141. Here perhaps a gridiron, according to the modern use of the word. But see Brandreth. Finchale Glossary.

Brasiator. A brewer, or perhaps rather a malt-maker. The brasiator is called the "Kylman" in the Bursar's Book for 1517.

Brawne, 110. A boar. The word is still used in the North for the animal whilst alive.

Brewled, Brewleyde. A large cooling vessel, of lead, used in the brewhouse.

Broches, 64. Qu. something in the nature of sockets, or sticks for holding torches.

Brods, Broydds, 72. Nails. The word is still in use in the manufacturing districts. See Penny Magazine, Dec. 1844, p. 504.

Brymmysglasse, 170. Qu.?

Burdynge, 228. A bunch or certain number of rods of steel, probably as many as a horse could carry on its back.

Bus'. A bushel.

But, 122, 221. Halibut, the fish so called.

Butspreynte, 121, 221. Qu. a diminutive of But or Halibut.

Byndera, 167, the same as Bandsmen, above.

Byndyng pro aquæductu. Water was conducted to the monastery in leaden pipes, the occasional ruptures of which, proceeding from age or accident, were repaired by applications of rope, saturated with unctuous matter, till new pipes became necessary.

Byrte, 122. Hodie vulg. Bret—a turbot.

C.

Calathus, Calatus, 71. A basket.

Candelæ albæ. White candles, candles apparently made of purer materials for the Guest Hall. "In five dozen of white candles bought against the coming of the Commissioners at 18*d*.—

7*s.* 6*d.* And in 23 doz. bought for the Commissioners, Ambassadors of the King, and other guests and strangers in the Guest Hall, 34*s.* 6*d.*"—Bursar's Book, 1586-87. "In white candles for the coal-pit upon the ground of Aldyngrange."—Bursar's Book, 1539-40.

CANNELS, 74. The word occurs in connection with spiggots, and the two served the same purpose as the cock of a barrel. The cannel was the channel or receptacle of the spigot.

CAPUCIUM, 191. A covering for the head. The hood of a monk.

CARBONES, 140, here apparently charcoal.

CARECTA. A cart.

CARNIPRIVIUM. The beginning of Lent.

CATOR. A provider of food—generally however applied to the purchaser of fish. v. Catour, Finchale Glossary.

CAYRSSAY, 173, 176. Kersey, coarse cloth.

CAYSE, 267. Here an outer case of wood to protect a leaden cistern.

CEBUM. Kitchen fat or dripping. Apparently synonymous with feodum, a fee or perquisite. Feodum coquinæ is still in use, in its translated form of kitchen fee, for dripping, the perquisite of the cook. "De Cebo et feodo provenientibus de proficuis coquinæ." 1536. Under the head of Empcio cebi, in the Book for 1538 stands the item "for 20 lb. candles bought of R. Hawarte, ad 1½*d.*"

CELLA, Sella. A saddle.

CHEKYNGPAYST, 325. A condiment for fattening chickens.

CILICINUM. Hair-cloth.

CIMEÆ, 143. Simiæ, apes or monkeys.

CIRPÆ, 71. Rushes. Under the head of Empcio cirparum, in the Bursar's Book for 1539-40, we have "for mowing 'le ryshchys,' 21 May, 6*d.*" See RYESHYS.

CLEYRKAGE, 52. A custom-house duty.

CLOWES, Clows, Clowys, &c. Cloves.

CLYENS Pandoxatorii, 97. In the Hostillar's Book, for 1531-2, the cliens de Elvethalgh is also called serviens de Elvethalgh. The word is therefore only another name for a servant.

COBYLL, 272. A cobble or small boat.

COCLEAR. A spoon.

CODLYNGES, Codling. A diminutive of cod—a large sea fish.

COLTHAVER, 103. Oats for colts or young horses, an old rent or service.

COMMUNIARIUS. The monk in charge of the common sitting-room of the brethren in the south-west corner of the cloister.

CONAGIUM, CONAGE, 47. The mint of the Bishop of Durham, to which as it seems the Bursar now and then sent his old silver plate to be coined into currency.

CONNDETH, 267. A conduit.

CONNYNGE, v. CONAGE.

COTTS DE PLAYTE, 189. Coats of plate armour.

CRATHIFER, 328. A cup-bearer, for so the word is translated in the Hostillar's Book for 1527-8. It must therefore be an abbreviation or corruption of cratefer, a word of obvious formation. At all events the word before us is a new one.

CREDULL, 268. A cradle—a cradle of glass.

CROCUS. Saffron, used in tinting jellies, sweetmeats, &c. The high price given for it will not have escaped the notice of the reader. In 1539-40, the saffron consumed by the monks was bought of Thomas Freeman, of Doncaster, and of a merchant from Cambridge. In 1538 it was bought at "Braydforth fayre."

CROPPELLS, 65, &c. Qu. cruppers for horses.

CROWETTS, 229. Cruets, here small vessels of silver.

CROYSE, 46. A cruise or drinking vessel. Here for ale. "Of John Hylton six croysses leded (leaded) 18*d.* 8 pynt croysses 4*d.* Item in crosses 6*d.*"—Bursar's Book, 1539-40.

CUCULLUS, 55. The hood or cowl of a monk.

CUMULACIO, 167. Cumulacio granorum—the laying the sheaves into heaps before they were stacked or carried.

CUTTES, 17, &c. Cuts, or small bundles—here of candlewicks. v. LICHINUS.

D.

DAKER, 107. Gr. δεκα—ten. A daker of hides.

DALBURA, 85. Plastering with lime or clay.

DALBYNGSTOURS, Dalbyngstowres, 36. Stowrs or pieces of wood, sections of branches of trees, &c. used in forming the framework of chimneys and partitions of rooms, to be covered with plaster of lime or clay. v. Finchale Glossary.

DD. Duodena, a dozen, applied to a dozen in number, a dozen pounds, &c. v. Finchale Glossary.

DEALBACIO, 69. Here the rendering white of horse hides, by tanning or some other process, to serve for book-binding or horse-harness.

DESCENDENDO. See ASCENDENDO.

DISTRIBUCIO, 256. A dole or dealing out of money to the poor upon the burial of a monk. The following are extracts from other books: "1517, 13 June. A distribution upon the death of William Ogle, 10*s*. Upon the death in the swethyngsekness (sweating-sickness) of Thomas Gatyshed and Robert Wylle, on the feast of St. Oswald, 20*s*."—"1539-40. Upon the death of Dr. Swallwell, 10*s*.; of Richard Whelpdale, 27 Aug. 10*s*. of Robert Keyth, 10*s*."

DIURNITAS. A day's work.

DOGDRAVE. See the Finchale Glossary. It is becoming still more probable that this word, which, as far as can he found, is peculiar to Durham, and now obsolete, denoted salted cod-fish of a large size. "1539-40. Paid Thomas Hogson, and the servant of Thomas Ponshon, for the carriage of 200 dogdrave, or 'pays fyshe' from Shields to the monastery, 3*s*. two journeys." And again, in the same year, "Of John Bowmaker of Sheyles, 800 dogdrave with 'le payes,' at 45*s*., £18. And for washing per 100, 2*d*."—Bursar's Book. The terms pays and payes seem to denote the peculiar salt called by the monks of Finchale, in their account rolls, Paytou, Patwys, &c. "Bay salt, sel commun—Cotgr." Another item in the same year proves that it took three horses to bring 100 dogdrave from Shields to Durham, at 6*d*. per horse.

DORTER. The Dormitory.

DRAUGHTLYS, 80. Perhaps only draughts or cart-loads.

DUBLERS. Large dishes of pewter or other material for the table. Still in common use.

DUKKETTS, 299. Ducats.

DUNE, 327. Of a dun colour.

DUNLYNGGS, 129. The bird so called.

DYNMONTHS, 234. Male sheep in their second year.

E.

ELBRODE, 157. Of the breadth of an ell.

ELECTRINA VASA, 70. Electrum was, properly speaking, a mixture of brass and tin; but the name is sometimes applied to vessels of other materials, such as pewter, &c.

ELEEMOSINA, 55. The entry under this word, in the page referred to, is to be distinguished from DISTRIBUCIO above, inasmuch as the money given as alms arose from a specific foundation for that purpose. The entry under this head in the Book for 1536-7, sets out these various foundations. "Alms annually distributed to the poor on the anniversaries of the deceased persons undermentioned, viz. of Thomas Hatfelde (Bishop of Durham), 40*s*.; of Thomas Castell (Prior of Durham), 40*s*.; of Sir Thomas de Nevill, knt., 40*s*. of Robert Rodes, 74*s*.; of Thomas Lawson, Esq., 40*s*.; and of Richard de Castro Bernardi, clerk, 40*s*.; as appears in their charters. And in alms given to the fifteen brethren and sisters of the house of God, called 'Masendewes,' 45*s*. And in alms paid in pennies to four widows of the Blessed Virgin, called 'wedowwryght' (widow-right) to each of them, 4*s*. And in alms given and distributed in money to the poor at the Lord's Supper, and two following days, arising from the foundation of Absalom, Germanus, and Ralph Karneth (all early priors of Durham), £6 13*s*. 4*d*." See Hist. Dunelm. Scrip.Tres. App. xxxv. These distributions were called maundies, not from the maund or basket out of which the dole was made, as has been frequently suggested, but because they were ex mandato, by express command of their respective founders.

ENDEROPPES. Probably ropes to secure the ends of carts when laden.

ENDS, 40. Ends of iron, probably frusta, or cuttings from longer bars.

EXACUACIO, 88. The sharpening of tools.

EXASPERACIO, 178. The same as above.

EXENNIA. Gifts or presents. Gr. ξενος. v. Finchale Glossary.

Paid to Robert Rede, Thomas Rede, and eight others, by Clement Hall, for the 'bryttynge fyer wode' against the arrival of the Commissioners of our Lord the King, for one day, 2*s*."—Bursar's Book. The Commissioners were doubtless persons passing through Durham on Border business.

FORGEYR, 139. Armour for the front of the body.
FORTRACES, 155. Traces attaching the first horse in the team to that by which it was followed.
FOWSHE CERVI, 240. Qu. the two hind-quarters, not separated from each other, fourchè.
FRÆNÆ. Reins, bridles.
FRAYLLES. Baskets made of rushes.
FURRURA. Fur, the skin of animals used in ornamenting robes, or in rendering them warmer.
FUSHAYNE, 191, FUSHAYNEABLES, 64. Fustian, the cloth so called.
FYLLY. A young mare.
FYSSYKBUK. A book on medicine. "To master Richard the 'fysyshayne' of the Earl of Westmerland, by order of the Lord Prior, at Beuerpark, during the games of All Saints, 5*s*. And in a present given to a certain man from York, called a 'fysyzyayne,' in gold, 3*s*. 9*d*. For Robert Smethers."—Bursar's Book, 1538-9. The books before us contain frequent notices of the dreadful maladies, which in the absence of medical knowledge, and during the prevalence of a salt-diet and general personal uncleanliness, made such frequent and fatal havock among all classes. "Distributed on the feast of St. Oswald as a dole upon the death 'in swethyngseknes' of Thomas Gateshead and Robert Wylle, two monks, 20s."—Bursar's Book, 1517. "Distributed in alms by order of the Lord Prior upon Elvet Moor, five lambs."—Bursar's Book, 1538. The plague was then raging, and the poor people of Durham were living upon Elvet Moor in tents. "In bread and ale, with carriage, bought for the monks, William Hakfurth and Thomas Eden, being at Witton during the plague, 4*s*."—Bursar's Book, 1539-40.

A.

Allxces Albi. Dried herrings, retaining their white colour. "1539-40. Paid to William Blythman and Ralph Bowman for the carriage of 1000 white herrings, and two loads of 'poudert' fish with four horses, at 6*d*. each, 2*s*."—Bursar's Book.

Allxces Sori. Dried herrings of a red colour. The "poudert" fish, or fish red with salt, mentioned under the preceding word. See Sorus.

Almayne Reyvetts, 139. Defensive suits of armour for the body, composed of splints rivetted together. Kempe. They are here called Almayne or German, perhaps from the country in which they were chiefly used, or from which they were introduced into England.

Ampnus or um. A corruption of amnis, a river. Reparacio Ampni, p. 280, &c. the repairing of the mill dam at the west end of the cathedral. The dam was made of stone, and the crevices were stuffed with moss, of which large quantities were procured every year for this purpose. It was generally gathered and brought to the dam by girls.

Angell Nobles, 325. The gold coin or noble, so called from the angel represented on one of its sides.

Annes. Anniseeds.

Apprenticius. An apprentice. "Received of the Sacrist for the table (or board) of the apprentice of the Lord Prior, 26*s*. 8*d*."—Bursar's Book for 1517.

Aqua Dulcis. Fresh water, in opposition to salt water or the sea. Pisces aquæ dulcis, fish from rivers or brooks. The Brownie is frequently called "aqua dulcis de Brun."

Aries, p. 29, &c. Apparently used for sheep in general.

Arth, p. 182. The hearth.

Ascendendo, 90, &c. This word must be taken in connection with Descendendo, its opposite, terms which are in this book applied to the wages of the priests officiating in the chantries of Bishop Hatfield, the two Nevilles, and Robert Rodes, within the cathedral. The Bursar's Book for 1508 affords an explanation of the distinction and of the meaning of each word. "Descendendo ad inferiorem" is the entry in the book for that year. It would therefore appear that when the word descendendo is used, the service at the beginning of the year, immediately after Whitsuntide, was undertaken by a monk of superior standing, who was succeeded, month after month, by his juniors in their respective order; and that the term ascendendo implies the converse of this arrangement, the junior monk beginning and giving place to his immediate senior, who passed the duty on to the man above him, and so on, till the end of the year.

Asseres, 85. Spars of wood for the roof of a house, or perhaps occasionally laths. As they were obtained from the log of timber, not by sawing (sarracio), but by tearing or splitting (laceratio), it is clear that boards cannot be meant when this word is used.

Avenarius, 328. The keeper of the oats.

Auca, 233. Notwithstanding the modern usage of the word, as exclusively applicable to the puffin, it is clear that auca is here used for a goose.

B.

Bagman. An officer of the Convent, but his peculiar duties are not apparent.

Bakgeyr, 139. Armour for the back in opposition to Forgeyr, or armour for the front.

Bandsmen. Binders of the sheaves after the reapers in the harvest field. See Yane.

Baptizacio, 142. We may here give the expenses at another christening. "1539-40. In the expenses of the Lord Prior and his attendants at Brauncepeath in Advent, at the baptizing of the daughter of the Earl of Westmerlande, 2*s.* 4*d.* In regards (presents) given at the baptizing of the daughter of the Earl of Westmerlande at Brauncepeath, 10, Dec. 20*s.*"—Bursar's Book.

Barked, 29. Tanned, by means of bark.

Basers, Le, 95, &c. No one of the Bursar's books explains this word. The Valectus Promptuarii, in connection with whom it occurs, is in the book for 1517, called the Butler. The basers were perhaps the lower tables. "1517. To Adomar Dand, 'butler,' 20*s.* Item, 6*s.* 8*d.* for 'baser.' Whereof paid in 'Segisterio,' 4*d.*" &c. See Segisterium.

Bednell, Beydnell, codlynge. Codlings or codfish of a smaller size from Beadnell in Northumberland.

Bierman, 329. The servant in charge of the cow byers.

Blandcorn, 262. This word occurs under the head of thrashing and winnowing of tithe corn at Southwick. Wheat, barley, oats, pease, and beans are all mentioned by name. Blandcorn is no doubt maslin (mixtilio) from Sax. blendan, to mix.

Boditraces, 19, &c. Horse-trappings.

Bolcorn, 5, &c. Qu. corn for bulls. But perhaps this is a term for some old service payable to the lord by his tenant.

Bordcloth. A table cloth. "Two 'bordcloth, elbroyde,' (of the breadth of an ell) for the Prior's table, containing 14 ells. One tabylcloth 8 ells in length, and 1¼ in breadth." Bursar's Book for 1539-40. In the same book bord clothes are called over clothes.

Bordeynde, 157. The end of the board or table.

Bordnayle, Burdnayle, 13, 72. Board nails.

Botella, 293. A bottle for ale, wine, &c.

Botti, 55. Boots.

Boultclothes, 11, 133. Boulting cloths, cloths used in sifting meal.

Boyssis, 19. Bosses, ornaments in wood or metal, here apparently decorations for bridles.

Brandreth, 141. Here perhaps a gridiron, according to the modern use of the word. But see Brandaret. Finchale Glossary.

Brasiator. A brewer, or perhaps rather a malt-maker. The brasiator is called the "Kylman" in the Bursar's Book for 1517.

Brawne, 110. A boar. The word is still used in the North for the animal whilst alive.

Brewled, Brewleydr. A large cooling vessel, of lead, used in the brewhouse.

Broches, 64. Qu. something in the nature of sockets, or sticks for holding torches.

Brods, Broydds, 72. Nails. The word is still in use in the manufacturing districts. See Penny Magazine, Dec. 1844, p. 504.

Brymmysglasse, 170. Qu.?

Burdynge, 228. A bunch or certain number of rods of steel, probably as many as a horse could carry on its back.

Bus'. A bushel.

But, 122, 221. Halibut, the fish so called.

Butspreynte, 121, 221. Qu. a diminutive of But or Halibut.

Bynders, 167, the same as Bandsmen, above.

Byndyng pro aquæductu. Water was conducted to the monastery in leaden pipes, the occasional ruptures of which, proceeding from age or accident, were repaired by applications of rope, saturated with unctuous matter, till new pipes became necessary.

Byrte, 122. Hodie vulg. Bret—a turbot.

C.

Calathus, Calatus, 71. A basket.

Candelæ albæ. White candles, candles apparently made of purer materials for the Guest Hall. "In five dozen of white candles bought against the coming of the Commissioners at 18*d.*—

7*s.* 6*d.* And in 23 doz. bought for the Commissioners, Ambassadors of the King, and other guests and strangers in the Guest Hall, 34*s.* 6*d.*"—Bursar's Book, 1536-37. "In white candles for the coal-pit upon the ground of Aldyngrange."—Bursar's Book, 1539-40.

CANNELS, 74. The word occurs in connection with spiggots, and the two served the same purpose as the cock of a barrel. The cannel was the channel or receptacle of the spigot.

CAPUCIUM, 191. A covering for the head. The hood of a monk.

CARBONES, 140, here apparently charcoal.

CARECTA. A cart.

CARNIPRIVIUM. The beginning of Lent.

CATOR. A provider of food—generally however applied to the purchaser of fish. v. Catour, Finchale Glossary.

CATYRSSAY, 173, 176. Kersey, coarse cloth.

CAYSE, 267. Here an outer case of wood to protect a leaden cistern.

CEBUM. Kitchen fat or dripping. Apparently synonymous with feodum, a fee or perquisite. Feodum coquinæ is still in use, in its translated form of kitchen fee, for dripping, the perquisite of the cook. "De Cebo et feodo provenientibus de proficuis coquinæ." 1536. Under the head of Empcio cebi, in the Book for 1538 stands the item "for 20 lb. candles bought of R. Hawarte, ad 1½*d.*"

CELLA, Sella. A saddle.

CHEKYNGPAYST, 325. A condiment for fattening chickens.

CILICINUM. Hair-cloth.

CIMEÆ, 143. Simiæ, apes or monkeys.

CIRPÆ, 71. Rushes. Under the head of Empcio cirparum, in the Bursar's Book for 1539-40, we have "for mowing 'le ryshchys,' 21 May, 6*d.*" See RYESHYS.

CLEYRKAGE, 52. A custom-house duty.

CLOWES, Clows, Clowys, &c. Cloves.

CLYENS Pandoxatorii, 97. In the Hostillar's Book, for 1531-2, the cliens de Elvethalgh is also called serviens de Elvethalgh. The word is therefore only another name for a servant.

COBYLL, 272. A cobble or small boat.

COCLEAR. A spoon.

CODLYNGES, Codling. A diminutive of cod—a large sea fish.

COLTHAVER, 103. Oats for colts or young horses, an old rent or service.

COMMUNIARIUS. The monk in charge of the common sitting-room of the brethren in the south-west corner of the cloister.

CONAGIUM, CONAGE, 47. The mint of the Bishop of Durham, to which as it seems the Bursar now and then sent his old silver plate to be coined into currency.

CONNDETH, 267. A conduit.

CONNYNGE, v. CONAGE.

COTTS DE PLAYTE, 139. Coats of plate armour.

CRATHIFER, 328. A cup-bearer, for so the word is translated in the Hostillar's Book for 1527-8. It must therefore be an abbreviation or corruption of craterifer, a word of obvious formation. At all events the word before us is a new one.

CREDULL, 268. A cradle—a cradle of glass.

CROCUS. Saffron, used in tinting jellies, sweetmeats, &c. The high price given for it will not have escaped the notice of the reader. In 1539-40, the saffron consumed by the monks was bought of Thomas Freeman, of Doncaster, and of a merchant from Cambridge. In 1538 it was bought at "Braydforth fayre."

CROPPELLS, 65, &c. Qu. cruppers for horses.

CROWETTS, 229. Cruets, here small vessels of silver.

CROYSE, 46. A cruise or drinking vessel. Here for ale. "Of John Hylton six croysses leded (leaded) 18*d.* 8 pynt croysses 4*d.* Item in crosses 6*d.*"—Bursar's Book, 1539-40.

CUCULLUS, 55. The hood or cowl of a monk.

CUMULACIO, 167. Cumulacio granorum—the laying the sheaves into heaps before they were stacked or carried.

CUTTES, 17, &c. Cuts, or small bundles—here of candlewicks. v. LICHINUS.

D.

DAKER, 107. Gr. δεκα—ten. A daker of hides.

DALBURA, 85. Plastering with lime or clay.

DALBYNGSTOURS, Dalbyngstowres, 36. Stowrs or pieces of wood, sections of branches of trees, &c. used in forming the framework of chimneys and partitions of rooms, to be covered with plaster of lime or clay. v. Finchale Glossary.

Dd. Duodena, a dozen, applied to a dozen in number, a dozen pounds, &c. v. Finchale Glossary.

Dealbacio, 69. Here the rendering white of horse hides, by tanning or some other process, to serve for book-binding or horse-harness.

Draysclothes, 157. Probably table-clothes for the dais or upper table.

Descendendo. See Ascendendo.

Distribucio, 256. A dole or dealing out of money to the poor upon the burial of a monk. The following are extracts from other books: "1517, 13 June. A distribution upon the death of William Ogle, 10*s*. Upon the death in the swethyngsekness (sweating-sickness) of Thomas Gatyshed and Robert Wylle, on the feast of St. Oswald, 20*s*."—"1539-40. Upon the death of Dr. Swallwell, 10*s*.; of Richard Whelpdale, 27 Aug. 10*s*. of Robert Keyth, 10*s*."

Diurnitas. A day's work.

Dogdrave. See the Finchale Glossary. It is becoming still more probable that this word, which, as far as can he found, is peculiar to Durham, and now obsolete, denoted salted cod-fish of a large size. "1539-40. Paid Thomas Hogson, and the servant of Thomas Ponshon, for the carriage of 200 dogdrave, or 'pays fyshe' from Shields to the monastery, 3*s*. two journeys." And again, in the same year, "Of John Bowmaker of Sheyles, 800 dogdrave with 'le payes,' at 45*s*., £18. And for washing per 100, 2*d*."—Bursar's Book. The terms pays and payes seem to denote the peculiar salt called by the monks of Finchale, in their account rolls, Paytou, Patwys, &c. "Bay salt, sel commun—Cotgr." Another item in the same year proves that it took three horses to bring 100 dogdrave from Shields to Durham, at 6*d*. per horse.

Dorter. The Dormitory.

Draughtlys, 80. Perhaps only draughts or cart-loads.

Dublers. Large dishes of pewter or other material for the table. Still in common use.

Dukketts, 299. Ducats.

Dune, 327. Of a dun colour.

Dunlynggs, 129. The bird so called.

Dynmonths, 234. Male sheep in their second year.

E.

Elbrode, 157. Of the breadth of an ell.

Electrina vasa, 70. Electrum was, properly speaking, a mixture of brass and tin; but the name is sometimes applied to vessels of other materials, such as pewter, &c.

Eleemosina, 55. The entry under this word, in the page referred to, is to be distinguished from Distribucio above, inasmuch as the money given as alms arose from a speeific foundation for that purpose. The entry under this head in the Book for 1536-7, sets out these various foundations. "Alms annually distributed to the poor on the anniversaries of the deceased persons undermentioned, viz. of Thomas Hatfelde (Bishop of Durham), 40*s*.; of Thomas Castell (Prior of Durham), 40*s*.; of Sir Thomas de Nevill, knt., 40*s*. of Robert Rodes, 74*s*.; of Thomas Lawson, Esq., 40*s*.; and of Richard de Castro Bernardi, clerk, 40*s*.; as appears in their charters. And in alms given to the fifteen brethren and sisters of the house of God, called 'Masendewes,' 45*s*. And in alms paid in pennies to four widows of the Blessed Virgin, called 'wedowwryght' (widow-right) to each of them, 4*s*. And in alms given and distributed in money to the poor at the Lord's Supper, and two following days, arising from the foundation of Absalom, Germanus, and Ralph Karneth (all early priors of Durham), £6 13*s*. 4*d*." See Hist. Dunelm. Scrip.Tres. App. xxxv. These distributions were called maundies, not from the maund or basket out of which the dole was made, as has been frequently suggested, but because they were ex mandato, by express command of their respective founders.

In the instances in which it occurs in this book, it is applied to rye, and it may probably denote the separating of rye from wheat, that the latter may be unmixed with other grain when sown. Jamieson states that in England to lease signified to glean, but it is not used in the northern counties in that sense.

LUDI PRIORIS, 9, 13, &c. At four periods of the year, at the Feast of the Purification, at Easter, on the day of St. John the Baptist, and on the day of All Saints, the Prior withdrew from Durham to one of his Manor houses, attended by his officers and a considerable number of the fraternity, for the purposes of feasting and relaxation. The places to which he retired in their turns were generally Bearpark, Byewley, Pittington, and Wardley, but Muggleswick and other places were perhaps occasionally visited, and, in some instances, after the ordinary Ludus had been brought to a termination, special Ludi were held, which, as in the case at Byewley, in 1538, hereafter mentioned, lasted for three days in succession. If any opinion can be formed from the consumption of provisions on these occasions, the people of the neighbourhood seem to have attended in great numbers, and in all probability one of the amusements which they were permitted to witness was an exhibition of miracle plays or mysteries. The word Ludus seems to justify this inference. The ordinary allowance of provisions for these games made by the Bursar in each year is detailed in the pages above referred to, but the later books afford much additional information. In 1538, the Ludus of All Saints was held at Beaurepaire, and that of St. John the Baptist preceding at Byewley. Of the expenditure and consumption of food at this latter place, we have the following minute account. It will be observed that the ordinary Ludus is first mentioned.

"In 500 'cast' (? cakes) of better bread (panis melioris) bought of the wife of W. Layken of Stokton, at the ordinary Ludus held at Byewley, after the feast of St. John the Baptist in the year 1538, at ½*d.* 'le cast,' 26*s.* 8*d.*

"Item paid to the said wife at the first special Ludus held there for 400

'cast' of better bread at 5*s*. per 100, 20*s*.

"And in the second Ludus held there for 440 'cast' used there and bought of the wife of W. Layken, 20*s*. 10*d*.

"And in the third Ludus 808 'cast' used there at 5*s*.—40*s*. 4*d*.

"And paid to William Lame and two other men for the carriage of three loads of ptisan from the Monastery to Shynkley moor on the road to Byewley, 2*s*."—Bursar's Book. From another page we learn that 3 oxen and 34 sheep were consumed at these special games.

In the Bursar's Book for 1539-40, the page intended to be occupied by similar details respecting the Ludi of that year is unoccupied, and for an obvious reason.

The monks who sung their first mass in 1538 were Thomas Forster, Roger Raw, John Sotheron, and Richard Forster.

MISSA PRIMAT', 103, &c. The latter word is never written at length in the book. As the entry is made in connection with an allowance for candles, it probably refer to the first mass of the monks mentioned under the preceding word.

Aries, p. 29, &c. Apparently used for sheep in general.

Arth, p. 182. The hearth.

Ascendendo, 90, &c. This word must be taken in connection with Descendendo, its opposite, terms which are in this book applied to the wages of the priests officiating in the chantries of Bishop Hatfield, the two Nevilles, and Robert Rodes, within the cathedral. The Bursar's Book for 1508 affords an explanation of the distinction and of the meaning of each word. "Descendendo ad inferiorem" is the entry in the book for that year. It would therefore appear that when the word descendendo is used, the service at the beginning of the year, immediately after Whitsuntide, was undertaken by a monk of superior standing, who was succeeded, month after month, by his juniors in their respective order; and that the term ascendendo implies the converse of this arrangement, the junior monk beginning and giving place to his immediate senior, who passed the duty on to the man above him, and so on, till the end of the year.

Asseres, 85. Spars of wood for the roof of a house, or perhaps occasionally laths. As they were obtained from the log of timber, not by sawing (sarracio), but by tearing or splitting (laceratio), it is clear that boards cannot be meant when this word is used.

Avenarius, 328. The keeper of the oats.

Auca, 233. Notwithstanding the modern usage of the word, as exclusively applicable to the puffin, it is clear that auca is here used for a goose.

Barked, 29. Tanned, by means of bark.

Basers, Le, 95, &c. No one of the Bursar's books explains this word. The Valectus Promptuarii, in connection with whom it occurs, is in the book for 1517, called the Butler. The basers were perhaps the lower tables. "1517. To Adomar Dand, 'butler,' 20*s*. Item, 6*s*. 8*d*. for 'baser.' Whereof paid in 'Segisterio,' 4*d*." &c. See Segisterium.

COTTS DE PLAYTE, 139. Coats of plate armour.

CRATHIFER, 328. A cup-bearer, for so the word is translated in the Hostillar's Book for 1527-8. It must therefore be an abbreviation or corruption of craterifer, a word of obvious formation. At all events the word before us is a new one.

CREDULL, 268. A cradle—a cradle of glass.

CROCUS. Saffron, used in tinting jellies, sweetmeats, &c. The high price given for it will not have escaped the notice of the reader. In 1539-40, the saffron consumed by the monks was bought of Thomas Freeman, of Doncaster, and of a merchant from Cambridge. In 1538 it was bought at "Braydforth fayre."

Diurnitas. A day's work.

Dogdrave. See the Finchale Glossary. It is becoming still more probable that this word, which, as far as can he found, is peculiar to Durham, and now obsolete, denoted salted cod-fish of a large size. "1539-40. Paid Thomas Hogson, and the servant of Thomas Ponshon, for the carriage of 200 dogdrave, or 'pays fyshe' from Shields to the monastery, 3*s*. two journeys." And again, in the same year, "Of John Bowmaker of Sheyles, 800 dogdrave with 'le payes,' at 45*s*., £18. And for washing per 100, 2*d*."—Bursar's Book. The terms pays and payes seem to denote the peculiar salt called by the monks of Finchale, in their account rolls, Paytou, Patwys, &c. "Bay salt, sel commun—Cotgr." Another item in the same year proves that it took three horses to bring 100 dogdrave from Shields to Durham, at 6*d*. per horse.

Eleemosina, 55. The entry under this word, in the page referred to, is to be distinguished from Distribucio above, inasmuch as the money given as alms arose from a specific foundation for that purpose. The entry under this head in the Book for 1536-7, sets out these various foundations. "Alms annually distributed to the poor on the aniversaries of the deceased persons undermentioned, viz. of Thomas Hatfelde (Bishop of Durham), 40*s*.; of Thomas Castell (Prior of Durham), 40*s*.; of Sir Thomas de Nevill, knt., 40*s*. of Robert Rodes, 74*s*.; of Thomas Lawson, Esq., 40*s*.; and of Richard de Castro Bernardi, clerk, 40*s*.; as appears in their charters. And in alms given to the fifteen brethren and sisters of the house of God, called 'Masendewes,' 45*s*. And in alms paid in pennies to four widows of the Blessed Virgin, called 'wedowwryght' (widow-right) to each of them, 4*s*. And in alms given and distributed in money to the poor at the Lord's Supper, and two following days, arising from the foundation of Absalom, Germanus, and Ralph Karneth (all early priors of Durham), £6 13*s*. 4*d*." See Hist. Dunelm. Scrip. Tres. App. xxxv. These distributions were called maundies, not from the maund or basket out of which the dole was made, as has been frequently suggested, but because they were ex mandato, by express command of their respective founders.

In the instances in which it occurs in this book, it is applied to rye, and it may probably denote the separating of rye from wheat, that the latter may be unmixed with other grain when sown. Jamieson states that in England to lease signified to glean, but it is not used in the northern counties in that sense.

Ludi Prioris, 9, 13, &c. At four periods of the year, at the Feast of the Purification, at Easter, on the day of St. John the Baptist, and on the day of All Saints, the Prior withdrew from Durham to one of his Manor houses, attended by his officers and a considerable number of the fraternity, for the purposes of feasting and relaxation. The places to which he retired in their turns were generally Bearpark, Byewley, Pittington, and Wardley, but Muggleswick and other places were perhaps occasionally visited, and, in some instances, after the ordinary Ludus had been brought to a termination, special Ludi were held, which, as in the case at Byewley, in 1538, hereafter mentioned, lasted for three days in succession. If any opinion can be formed from the consumption of provisions on these occasions, the people of the neighbourhood seem to have attended in great numbers, and in all probability one of the amusements which they were permitted to witness was an exhibition of miracle plays or mysteries. The word Ludus seems to justify this inference. The ordinary allowance of provisions for these games made by the Bursar in each year is detailed in the pages above referred to, but the later books afford much additional information. In 1538, the Ludus of All Saints was held at Beaurepaire, and that of St. John the Baptist preceding at Byewley. Of the expenditure and consumption of food at this latter place, we have the following minute account. It will be observed that the ordinary Ludus is first mentioned.

"In 500 'cast' (? cakes) of better bread (panis melioris) bought of the wife of W. Layken of Stokton, at the ordinary Ludus held at Byewley, after the feast of St. John the Baptist in the year 1538, at ½*d.* 'le cast,' 26*s.* 8*d.*

In the Bursar's Book for 1539-40, the page intended to be occupied by similar details respecting the Ludi of that year is unoccupied, and for an obvious reason.

"1496. Paid to Robert Walsech for two days playing, 8*d*."—Bursar's Book. "1538. Paid to the minstrels (ministrallis) at 'le musters' upon 'le Gelymore,' (Gilesgate moor) 12*d*."—Id. "1539-40. The monks who sung their first mass in 1538 were Thomas Forster, Roger Raw, John Sotheron, and Richard Forster.

Missa Primat', 103, &c. The latter word is never written at length in the book. As the entry is made in connection with an allowance for candles, it probably refer to the first mass of the monks mentioned under the preceding word.

Pownder, 329. The Pindar. In a similar account of the Hostillar for the year 1531-2, this same person is called, instead of Powunder, Custos Camporum. His office was therefore to impound stray cattle, there being at that time few or no inclosures.

Ptisina, 5, 58, 63, 245. This word has generally been considered to denote barley water, a decoction made from decorticated barley. The word itself is of Greek origin, πτισανη, from πτισσω, to deprive any thing of its husk or shell; but, as it was used at Durham at festivals in great quantities, costing not less than 4*s.* 6*d.* per barrel, something stronger than barley water must be denoted. It was probably ale of a weaker kind for the populace. To the notices of this beverage, whatever it was, referred to, the following may be added: "Four barrels of ptisan bought of Nicholas Newsham, 16*s.*" — 1536. "Paid to William Lame and two assistants for carrying three loads of ptisan from the Monastery to Shincliffe moor on the road to Bewley 2*s.*"—1538. In the same year, "Paid to the tenants of Shincliffe as a present for the carriage of two tuns of ptisan (the same doubtless as above) to Quarrington moor, 12*d.*" Shincliffe moor and Quarrington moor are identical, and they are on the road from Durham to Bewley, at which place the Prior was then holding his Ludi, and where barley water might have been easily made, and the expense of carrying it from Durham saved. "In two barrels of ptisan bought of Nicholas Newsham against Christmas, 9*s.*"—1539. V. Hor. Sat. ii. 3. 155. Ptisan is there made of rice. Since the above memoranda were committed to paper an entry in the Bursar's Book for the year 1539-40 has been met with under the head of "Halmot Courts," which seems to remove all doubt with respect to the precise meaning of the word under notice. In the second turn the steward purchases, among other things, for his court-dinner, ptisan 5*s.* and ale 2*s.* 4*d.* (ptissina & cervisia). In the third turn no mention is made of ptisina in his dinner bill, but we have in plain English from the same person of whom on the former occasion the ptisan was brought, "1 barell syngyll beyr and 1 fyrkynge doubyll beayre 4*s.* 4*d.*" which strongly confirms the conjecture above hazarded, and appears to settle the question. See Halmotti above.

T.

TABULACIO BURSARII, 103. This entry is explained by the Bursar's Book for 1517. "Paid to the Feretrar (or shrine-keeper) because he is not in the Bursar's Book, for service or chantry, per ann. 13*s.* 4*d.*" The nature of his office prevented him from taking any chantry, or other occasional duty, like the other monks, and therefore a present is made to him by way of compensation. The payment seems to have had its commencement in 1509, as it is in the Bursar's Book for that year said to be ex novo, and the pension is then 20*s.*

TACHE, 47. A clasp.

TEGULÆ, 81. Tiles; but by tiles must be understood at that period, in the north of England, slates. Those used in Durham and the neighbourhood were rough and heavy, and were generally procured from a quarry at Esh.

THAKE, 58. Thatch.

THORNBEK, 221. A thornback, a fish so called. The fish however at present known by that name is of a very diminutive size, and therefore some other fish must be meant in the page referred to.

TORTA, 2, 315. The Bursar's Book for 1539-40 informs us of the ingredients of which the tortæ of St. Nicholas were composed. "For tortis on the feast of Nicholas, 1½ lb. of pepper, 1 oz. of saffron, 2 oz. of cloves and mace, 3 lbs. of currants, 1 doz. of anniseeds, 1 lb. of liquorice, 1 oz. of ginger, 4 lb. of confects, and 2 lb. of plate." The flour must be supplied by the reader. This word, which as torta is an old one, seems to have degenerated into the word tart. "1538. Three lbs. of Diurnitas. A day's work.

Dogdrave. See the Finchale Glossary. It is becoming still more probable that this word, which, as far as can he found, is peculiar to Durham, and now obsolete, denoted salted cod-fish of a large size. "1539-40. Paid Thomas Hogson, and the servant of Thomas Ponshon, for the carriage of 200 dogdrave, or 'pays fyshe' from Shields to the monastery, 3*s*. two journeys." And again, in the same year, "Of John Bowmaker of Sheyles, 800 dogdrave with 'le payes,' at 45*s*., £18. And for washing per 100, 2*d*."—Bursar's Book. The terms pays and payes seem to denote the peculiar salt called by the monks of Finchale, in their account rolls, Paytou, Patwys, &c. "Bay salt, sel commun—Cotgr." Another item in the same year proves that it took three horses to bring 100 dogdrave from Shields to Durham, at 6*d*. per horse.

Elemosina, 55. The entry under this word, in the page referred to, is to be distinguished from Distribucio above, inasmuch as the money given as alms arose from a specific foundation for that purpose. The entry under this head in the Book for 1536-7, sets out these various foundations. "Alms annually distributed to the poor on the anniversaries of the deceased persons undermentioned, viz. of Thomas Hatfelde (Bishop of Durham), 40*s*.; of Thomas Castell (Prior of Durham), 40*s*.; of Sir Thomas de Nevill, knt., 40*s*. of Robert Rodes, 74*s*.; of Thomas Lawson, Esq., 40*s*.; and of Richard de Castro Bernardi, clerk, 40*s*.; as appears in their charters. And in alms given to the fifteen brethren and sisters of the house of God, called 'Masendewes,' 45*s*. And in alms paid in pennies to four widows of the Blessed Virgin, called 'wedowwryght' (widow-right) to each of them, 4*s*. And in alms given and distributed in money to the poor at the Lord's Supper, and two following days, arising from the foundation of Absalom, Germanus, and Ralph Karneth (all early priors of Durham), £6 13*s*. 4*d*." See Hist. Dunelm. Scrip. Tres. App. xxxv. These distributions were called maundies, not from the maund or basket out of which the dole was made, as has been frequently suggested, but because they were ex mandato, by express command of their respective founders.

In the instances in which it occurs in this book, it is applied to rye, and it may probably denote the separating of rye from wheat, that the latter may be unmixed with other grain when sown. Jamieson states that in England to lease signified to glean, but it is not used in the northern counties in that sense.

Ludi Prioris, 9, 13, &c. At four periods of the year, at the Feast of the Purification, at Easter, on the day of St. John the Baptist, and on the day of All Saints, the Prior withdrew from Durham to one of his Manor houses, attended by his officers and a considerable number of the fraternity, for the purposes of feasting and relaxation. The places to which he retired in their turns were generally Bearpark, Byewley, Pittington, and Wardley, but Muggleswick and other places were perhaps occasionally visited, and, in some instances, after the ordinary Ludus had been brought to a termination, special Ludi were held, which, as in the case at Byewley, in 1538, hereafter mentioned, lasted for three days in succession. If any opinion can be formed from the consumption of provisions on these occasions, the people of the neighbourhood seem to have attended in great numbers, and in all probability one of the amusements which they were permitted to witness was an exhibition of miracle plays or mysteries. The word Ludus seems to justify this inference. The ordinary allowance of provisions for these games made by the Bursar in each year is detailed in the pages above referred to, but the later books afford much additional information. In 1538, the Ludus of All Saints was held at Beaurepaire, and that of St. John the Baptist preceding at Byewley. Of the expenditure and consumption of food at this latter place, we have the following minute account. It will be observed that the ordinary Ludus is first mentioned.

"In 500 'cast' (? cakes) of better bread (panis melioris) bought of the wife of W. Layken of Stokton, at the ordinary Ludus held at Byewley, after the feast of St. John the Baptist in the year 1538, at ½*d.* 'le cast,' 26*s.* 8*d.*

"Item paid to the said wife at the first special Ludus held there for 400

'cast' of better bread at 5s. per 100, 20s.

"And in the second Ludus held there for 440 'cast' used there and bought of the wife of W. Layken, 20s. 10d.

"And in the third Ludus 808 'cast' used there at 5s.—40s. 4d.

"And paid to William Lame and two other men for the carriage of three loads of ptisan from the Monastery to Shynkley moor on the road to Byewley, 2s."—Bursar's Book. From another page we learn that 3 oxen and 34 sheep were consumed at these special games.

In the Bursar's Book for 1539-40, the page intended to be occupied by similar details respecting the Ludi of that year is unoccupied, and for an obvious reason.

"Paid to William Brown and Alexander Durham, celebrating their first masses on the 20th and 22d of March, 1517, 13s. 4d."—Bursar's Book. The monks who sung their first mass in 1538 were Thomas Forster, Roger Raw, John Sotheron, and Richard Forster.

Missa Primat', 103, &c. The latter word is never written at length in the book. As the entry is made in connection with an allowance for candles, it probably refer to the first mass of the monks mentioned under the preceding word.

PTISINA, 5, 58, 63, 245. This word has generally been considered to denote barley water, a decoction made from decorticated barley. The word itself is of Greek origin, πτισανη, from πτισσω, to deprive any thing of its husk or shell; but, as it was used at Durham at festivals in great quantities, costing not less than 4*s*. 6*d*. per barrel, something stronger than barley water must be denoted. It was probably ale of a weaker kind for the populace. To the notices of this beverage, whatever it was, referred to, the following may be added: "Four barrels of ptisan bought of Nicholas Newsham, 16*s*."—1536. "Paid to William Lame and two assistants for carrying three loads of ptisan from the Monastery to Shincliffe moor on the road to Bewley 2*s*."—1538. In the same year, "Paid to the tenants of Shincliffe as a present for the carriage of two tuns of ptisan (the same doubtless as above) to Quarrington moor, 12*d*." Shincliffe moor and Quarrington moor are identical, and they are on the road from Durham to Bewley, at which place the Prior was then holding his Ludi, and where barley water might have been easily made, and the expense of carrying it from Durham saved. "In two barrels of ptisan bought of Nicholas Newsham against Christmas, 9*s*."—1539. V. Hor. Sat. ii. 3. 155. Ptisan is there made of rice. Since the above memoranda were committed to paper an entry in the Bursar's Book for the year 1539-40 has been met with under the head of "Halmot Courts," which seems to remove all doubt with respect to the precise meaning of the word under notice. In the second turn the steward purchases, among other things, for his court-dinner, ptisan 5*s*. and ale 2*s*. 4*d*. (ptissina & cervisia). In the third turn no mention is made of ptisina in his dinner bill, but we have in plain English from the same person of whom on the former occasion the ptisan was brought, "1 barell syngyll beyr and 1 fyrkynge doubyll beayre 4*s*. 4*d*." which strongly confirms the conjecture above hazarded, and appears to settle the question. TABULACIO BURSARII, 103. This entry is explained by the Bursar's Book for 1517. "Paid to the Feretrar (or shrine-keeper) because he is not in the Bursar's Book, for service or chantry, per ann. 13*s.* 4*d.*" The nature of his office prevented him from taking any chantry, or other occasional duty, like the other monks, and therefore a present is made to him by way of compensation. The payment seems to have had its commencement in 1509, as it is in the Bursar's Book for that year said to be ex novo, and the pension is then 20*s.*

TACHE, 47. A clasp.

TEGULÆ, 81. Tiles; but by tiles must be understood at that period, in the north of England, slates. Those used in Durham and the neighbourhood were rough and heavy, and were generally procured from a quarry at Esh.

TORTA, 2, 315. The Bursar's Book for 1539-40 informs us of the ingredients of which the tortæ of St. Nicholas were composed. "For tortis on the feast of Nicholas, 1½ lb. of pepper, 1 oz. of saffron, 2 oz. of cloves and mace, 3 lbs. of currants, 1 doz. of anniseeds, 1 lb. of liquorice, 1 oz. of ginger, 4 lb. of confects, and 2 lb. of plate." The flour must be supplied by the reader. This word, which as torta is an old one, seems to have degenerated into the word tart. "1538. Three lbs. of currants for tortis." "1536-7. Paid to George Potticary, against the arrival of the Commissioners for 7 lbs 'marmalayd,' 5*s*.; 12½lb. of suckett ad 10*d*. Under the head of Empcio le pakethrede and twyne in the Book for 1539-40, stands the following curious entry—"And in one bonnshe (bunch or bundle) of 'cokeshote-corde,' bought of John Chator of Newcastle, containing (blank) fawdome (fathoms) 10*d*." This cord, as its name implies, was for the purpose of making nets or springes for wood-cocks.

Valectus. A valet or yeoman, a domestic ranking between the generosi or gentlemen and the gromi or common servants. The Valectus Promptuarii is, in 1517, the butler. The Bursar, when he speaks of the Valecti in English, calls them yeomen. "1508. Hugh Holland, 'sewer,' the 'yeoman usher,' the 'yeoman butler.'" The gromus or lower menial remains untranslated.

Vanga, 74. A wooden shovel. An early printed book of Homilies, in the library of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, contains, in the hand-writing of the Monk William Law, once its owner, the following distich, which comprises the names of many of these rustic implements.—Liber Loquitur. "Non manibus duris me comprimat incola ruris Cujus sunt juris, traha, tribula, vanga, securis."

In this our Book the word is never written at length, and in 1538 and 1539 it is called wodyeron, apparently by mistake. See the next word.

In the instances in which it occurs in this book, it is applied to rye, and it may probably denote the separating of rye from wheat, that the latter may be unmixed with other grain when sown. LUDI PRIORIS, 9, 13, &c. At four periods of the year, at the Feast of the Purification, at Easter, on the day of St. John the Baptist, and on the day of All Saints, the Prior withdrew from Durham to one of his Manor houses, attended by his officers and a considerable number of the fraternity, for the purposes of feasting and relaxation. The places to which he retired in their turns were generally Bearpark, Byewley, Pittington, and Wardley, but Muggleswick and other places were perhaps occasionally visited, and, in some instances, after the ordinary Ludus had been brought to a termination, special Ludi were held, which, as in the case at Byewley, in 1538, hereafter mentioned, lasted for three days in succession. If any opinion can be formed from the consumption of provisions on these occasions, the people of the neighbourhood seem to have attended in great numbers, and in all probability one of the amusements which they were permitted to witness was an exhibition of miracle plays or mysteries. The word Ludus seems to justify this inference. The ordinary allowance of provisions for these games made by the Bursar in each year is detailed in the pages above referred to, but the later books afford mnch additional information. In 1538, the Ludus of All Saints was held at Beaurepaire, and that of St. John the Baptist preceding at Byewley. Of the expenditure and consumption of food at this latter place, we have the following minute account. It will be observed that the ordinary Ludus is first mentioned.

"In 500 'cast' (? cakes) of better bread (panis melioris) bought of the wife of W. Layken of Stokton, at the ordinary Ludus held at Byewley, after the feast of St. John the Baptist in the year 1538, at ½*d.* 'le cast,' 26*s.* 8*d.*

"Item paid to the said wife at the first special Ludus held there for 400

'cast' of better bread at 5*s.* per 100, 20*s.*

"And in the second Ludus held there for 440 'cast' used there and bought of the wife of W. Layken, 20*s.* 10*d.*

"And in the third Ludus 808 'cast' used there at 5*s.*—40*s.* 4*d.*

"And paid to William Lame and two other men for the carriage of three loads of ptisan from the Monastery to Shynkley moor on the road to Byewley, 2*s.*"—Bursar's Book. From another page we learn that 3 oxen and 34 sheep were consumed at these special games.

In the Bursar's Book for 1539-40, the page intended to be occupied by similar details respecting the Ludi of that year is unoccupied, and for an obvious reason.

"1496. Paid to Robert Walsech for two days playing, 8*d.*"—Bursar's Book. "1538. Paid to the minstrels (ministrallis) at 'le musters' upon 'le Gelymore,' (Gilesgate moor) 12*d.*"—Id. "1539-40. MISSA PRIMAT', 103, &c. The latter word is never written at length in the book. As the entry is made in connection with an allowance for candles, it probably refer to the first mass of the monks mentioned under the preceding word.

POWNDER, 329. The Pindar. In a similar account of the Hostillar for the year 1531-2, this same person is called, instead of Pownder, Custos Camporum. His office was therefore to impound stray cattle, there being at that time few or no inclosures.

PTISINA, 5, 58, 63, 245. This word has generally been considered to denote barley water, a decoction made from decorticated barley. The word itself is of Greek origin, πτισανη, from πτισσω, to deprive any thing of its husk or shell; but, as it was used at Durham at festivals in great quantities, costing not less than 4*s.* 6*d.* per barrel, something stronger than barley water must be denoted. It was probably ale of a weaker kind for the populace. To the notices of this beverage, whatever it was, referred to, the following may be added: "Four barrels of ptisan bought of Nicholas Newsham, 16*s.*"—1536. "Paid to William Lame and two assistants for carrying three loads of ptisan from the Monastery to Shincliffe moor on the road to Bewley 2*s.*"—1538. In the same year, "Paid to the tenants of Shincliffe as a present for the carriage of two tuns of ptisan (the same doubtless as above) to Quarrington moor, 12*d.*" Shincliffe moor and Quarrington moor are identical, and they are on the road from Durham to Bewley, at which place the Prior was then holding his Ludi, and where barley water might have been easily made, and the expense of carrying it from Durham saved. "In two barrels of ptisan bought of Nicholas Newsham against Christmas, 9*s.*"—1539. V. Hor. Sat. ii. 3. 155. Ptisan is there made of rice. Since the above memoranda were committed to paper an entry in the Bursar's Book for the year 1539-40 has been met with under the head of "Halmot Courts," which seems to remove all doubt with respect to the precise meaning of the word under notice. In the second turn the steward purchases, among other things, for his court-dinner, ptisan 5*s.* and ale 2*s.* 4*d.* (ptissina & cervisia). In the third turn no mention is made of ptisina in his dinner bill, but we have in plain English from the same person of whom on the former occasion the ptisan was brought, "1 barell syngyll beyr and 1 fyrkynge doubyll beayre 4*s.* 4*d.*" which strongly confirms the conjecture above hazarded, and appears to settle the question. TABULACIO BURSARII, 103. This entry is explained by the Bursar's Book for 1517. "Paid to the Feretrar (or shrine-keeper) because he is not in the Bursar's Book, for service or chantry, per ann. 13*s.* 4*d.*" The nature of his office prevented him from taking any chantry, or other occasional duty, like the other monks, and therefore a present is made to him by way of compensation. The payment seems to have had its commencement in 1509, as it is in the Bursar's Book for that year said to be ex novo, and the pension is then 20*s.*

"Paid to the Feretrar (or shrine-keeper) because he is not in the Bursar's Book, for service or chantry, per ann. 13*s.* 4*d.*" The nature of his office prevented him from taking any chantry, or other occasional duty, like the other monks, and therefore a present is made to him by way of compensation. The flour must be supplied by the reader. This word, which as torta is an old one, seems to have degenerated into the word tart. "1538. Three lbs. of currants for tortis." "1536-7. Vanga, 74. A wooden shovel. An early printed book of Homilies, in the library of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, contains, in the hand-writing of the Monk William Law, once its owner, the following distich, which comprises the names of many of these rustic implements.—Liber Loquitur. "Non manibus duris me comprimat incola ruris Cujus sunt juris, traha, tribula, vanga, securis."
